LA CROSSE GETS A POSTAL BANK

Will Open September 20. Tscharnier Says He is Not Surprised When Told

BENTON TO HAVE CHARGE

New Department Will be in Charge of Charles R. Benton, head of Money Order Department

La Crosse is to have a postal savings bank. This announcement was made in Washington this morning, although official notification of the matter has not yet reached the local office. The bank will open September 20.

When shown by a Tribune representative the dispatch announcing the designation of La Crosse as a branch of the new postal savings bank, Postmaster W. B. Tscharnier of the local office declared that the announcement did not come as a surprise to him.

"When I attended the postmasters' convention at Green Bay last week," he said, "I talked to Fourth Assistant Postmaster General P. V. De Graw. He told me that in all probability La Crosse would be designated as a depository of the new postal savings bank, and that we could look for notification of the designation within thirty days. I will probably receive the official announcement within a day or so."

Postmaster Tscharnier declares that choosing of La Crosse as a branch of the postal savings bank is in keeping with the policy of the government, which he declares is establishing new postal banks in cities over the country at the rate of 150 a week. The object, he declares, is to give every first class postoffice a depository of the postal bank in as short a time as possible.

The local branch of the postal bank in all probability will be conducted in the same department as the money order business, temporarily at least. Superintendent Charles R. Benton of the money order department will have charge of the funds for the present.

Postmaster Tscharnier declared this afternoon that he expected large deposits in the bank. Scores of people, he declared, have entered the local office since the passage of the postal bank law was announced, bringing with them their savings, to deposit in the new bank, and some have been much disappointed when they found that no branch had been opened in the La Crosse postoffice.

Other banks that were established today according to announcement by authorities at Washington are located at Grand Rapids, Mich., Sioux Falls, S. D., Tacoma, Wash., and Madison, Wis. These are included in the list of first class postal savings depositories. Fifty second-class branches were also established. The first-class depositories over the country now number 140, and the second-class 1,750.

CONGRESS' WORK SCORED BY TAFT

Message Vetoing Cotton Bill, Sent to Congress Today, Hits Lawmakers' Methods

WAITS REPORT OF BOARD

Says Measure Was Drawn Without Proper Consideration of the Facts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—In his message vetoing the cotton bill sent to congress this afternoon, President Taft scored the methods of the house and the senate in adopting the measure. He declared the bill and its amendments were passed without consideration of the facts concerning industries involved and that the amendments affecting the chemical, iron and steel schedules were not even considered in committee.

"My objection to the cotton schedule," the president said, "is that it was adopted without any investigation or information of a satisfactory character as to the effect it will have on an industry of this country in which the capital invested amounted, in 1909, to $821,000,000, the value of the product in dollars to $629,000,000 and affecting at least 1,200,000 persons and involving wages amounting to $146,000,000. The bill would not go into effect, by its terms, until January 1 next and before that time a full report to be submitted by the tariff board, based on the most thorough investigation will show the comparative cost of all the elements of products and the manufacture of cotton of this and other countries."

"The investigation by the committee on ways and means of the house did not cover the facts showing this comparative cost, for the reason that the committee was preparing a bill on a tariff for revenue basis, and their view of a proper bill was avowedly at variance with the theory of protection. Pledged to support a policy of moderate protection, I cannot approve a measure which violates its principles."

Taking up the amendments, the president stated:

"I find there was practically no consideration of either the chemical schedule or the metal schedule by any committee of either house. There were no facts presented to either house in which I can find material on which to form any judgment as to the effect of the amendments either on American industries of the country in this way."

Technical errors, the president said, filled the patchwork measure, many of them so glaring that it would be impossible to administer the law.

BOY HELD FOR LYNCHING

WESTCHESTER, Pa., Aug. 22.—Sixteen year old George Stahl, arrested in connection with the lynching of "Zack" Walker at Coatesville, was today denied freedom on habeas corpus proceedings, and was remanded by Judge Wm. Butler on a charge of murder. Two witnesses gave damaging testimony to the youth and the court ordered the boy to jail, holding that any person in the mob was responsible in the lynching.

FIREMEN WORSE THAN FIRE

LAKE MARIE, Wis., Aug. 22.—Volunteer firefighters got in their awful work when Tobey Inn caught fire. They did $750 worth of damage. The loss by fire was $7.

ABANDON BABES TO FLAMES

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—James, 4, and Bruno, 2, were burned to death in a fire in their home today. Their parents are said to have abandoned the children to save their own lives.

DEADLOCK UNBROKEN

FRENCH DIPLOMATS SAY GERMAN'S DEMANDS IN MOROCCAN AFFAIR ARE IMPOSSIBLE

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The admission by both the war office and the navy department that the annual maneuvers have been abandoned, as far as the original elaborate program is concerned, had a most depressing effect today. It is generally conceded that it means that the negotiations with Germany regarding the Moroccan situation continue in an almost hopeless deadlock.

Frequent conferences between the premier and the foreign ambassadors and between the premier and the heads of the war and navy departments have renewed the apprehension that Germany has raised impossible demands for territorial concessions in Africa.

Meanwhile the concessions between Ambassador Cambon at Berlin and the German foreign office continue but no information is obtainable.

Seeks Divorce From Woman For Whose Honor He Killed Man.

Captain Haines, from a sketch made just prior to his incarceration in Sing Sing, where he is serving a sentence of eight years for killing William E. Annis. Mrs. Haines, wife of the prisoner.

NEW YORK CITY.—Captain Peter C. Haines has brought suit for divorce from his wife, thus bringing to a final climax one of the most dramatic instances of recent criminal history.

It was for the honor of his wife, Mrs. Haines, that the Captain killed, at the Bayside Yacht club, in August, 1908, William E. Annis.

Captain Haines is now serving an eight year sentence in Sing Sing and it is doubtful whether he will be released from prison long enough to allow him to testify at his own divorce proceedings.

Annis, now dead three years, is named as co-respondent.

LEGISLATORS ARE HOMEWARD BOUND

Noisy Jubilation in House As Extraordinary Session of Congress Adjourns

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The nine millionth word was spoken in congress today, and, with that record achieved since March 15, the legislators closed the law manufacturing shop.

The extraordinary session was terminated this afternoon, to a picturesque accompaniment of noisy jubilation in the house, and staid, solid retinue in the senate.

Every train that left Washington today carried legislators homeward bound. In fact, the exodus began several days ago.

Cabinet members and other government officers expect to make a quick rush from heated Washington within the next few days. President Taft hopes to leave this evening and by next week only Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh will be left to sit on the lid.

Packed galleries witnessed the end of the session in the senate although the attendance of the senators was slim.

Chaplain Pierce gave thanks for the success of the session. The usual amenities of thanking Vice-president Sherman and the usual formal reply of thanks were carried through gravely.

Just as the crowds in the galleries were settled an executive session was held and everybody had to hustle out.

Senators Cullom and Martin were designated by vice-President Sherman to co-operate with the house committee in notifying the president that congress was ready to adjourn.

The senate recessed until 2 o'clock.

Boisterous enthusiasm reigned in the house this afternoon during the closing hours of the session. Members gathered on the floor, bidding each other farewell and Speaker Clark had hard work in making himself heard.

The galleries were packed. The president arrived at the senate shortly after 2:30 and went immediately to the special room reserved for his accommodation. Then the special committee of the house and senate gathered to inform him that congress had completed its work.

Immediately before adjourning the house Speaker Clark congratulated the members and wished them farewell. "It is practically gratifying to remember," he said, "that during the four months and a half of hard labor, during a considerable portion of which the weather was of nerve racking quality, there have been very few cross or unparliamentary words spoken and scarcely any ugly personal ones."

"The members have contended for what they believed to be right with courage, energy and capacity. It is to be hoped that any personal disagreements which have arisen in the excitement of debate will be speedily forgotten."

Precisely on time, according to the clocks in each legislative chamber the senate and the house then adjourned sine die.

FR. SLUYTER IN BAD AUTO SMASH

La Crosse Priest Has Narrow Escape When Machines Collide at Main and Fourth

Rev. Fr. G. Sluyter, pastor of St. Joseph's Cathedral, had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday afternoon, when Henry Sturz's automobile in which he was riding, collided with a machine driven by Henry Schurz at Fourth and Main streets.

Others in the Sturz car were Rev. Fr. Phillip Franke, assistant pastor of the Cathedral and Miss Franke, his sister, all of whom sustained minor bruises. Henry Sturz, the driver of one car, resides at 919 South Sixteenth street while Schurz is employed by the Plow company.

As a result of the accident Rev. Sluyter's face was badly cut by broken glass from the windshield, he sustained several bruises about the body from his fall on the pavement, and was bleeding from the nose when helped by the onlookers to Dr. G. J. Egan's office where his wounds were dressed.

Mr. Sturz sustained a cut on one of the fingers of his right hand.

Schurz was going north on the right side of Fourth street while the car driven by Sturz came up Main street, the latter turning to the left side of the street to avoid running into people boarding the car there. Mr. Sturz claims he was running on low gear at the time but when he saw that a collision was likely he speeded up in an attempt to get out of danger. Mr. Schurz at the same time put on the brakes.

Schurz's car caught the Sturz machine by the rear wheel and hurled it against the pavement. The result of the collision was that the front of Schurz's auto was damaged badly the lamps being broken and the fender bent, while Sturz's machine had its windshield smashed and a spoke in one of the rear wheels broken.

VAGRANT CARRIES WEALTH

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Chicago police today renewed their efforts to identify the aged man, held a prisoner in the West Chicago station, in whose ragged clothing $7,000 currency was found when he was arrested for vagrancy. Besides saying his name is Torsten Isaacson Asgaard, 80, and that his home was somewhere in Canada, the man can tell nothing of himself.

BOSSHARD CHOSEN BY THE GOVERNOR

Senator Otto Boshard, this morning received official announcement of his appointment by Governor Francis E. McGovern as delegate to the National Conservation Congress meeting to be held in Kansas City September 25, 26 and 27.

McGovern's choice of Mr. Boshard was probably due to the latter's membership on the senate committee on water powers, drainage and forestry.

Other delegates will probably be the other members of this committee, President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin and State Forester Griffith.

WITNESS DENIES BEATTIE STORY

Engineer Says He Saw Cousin Paul at Scene of Murder Night of Crime

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 22.—A witness whose testimony may break down entirely the story of Paul Beattie, on which the commonwealth depends to send Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., to the electric chair for the murder of his wife, was discovered today.

R. F. Ellington, an engineer on the Southern railway, turned up with the declaration that on the night Louise Owen Beattie was murdered he saw Paul Beattie on the Belt Line railroad tracks within a mile of the scene of the killing and almost at the exact spot where the gun with which the murder was committed was found.

If his testimony is unshaken it will totally destroy the narrative of Paul Beattie, whose wife and mother-in-law have sworn he was at home in bed the night of the killing. Ever since the arrest of Beattie, lawyers for the defense have been convinced that Paul did not tell the whole truth and have sought to find the weak point in his story. They were confident today that they could ably and utterly destroy the effect of With that much of Paul Beattie's story discredited, it will not be hard for the defense to attack his reliability and nullify his alibi.

Paul Beattie, who is feeling fairly well, asked newspaper reporters today to deny a printed statement that he had "confessed to a priest."

"I am not a Catholic," said Paul, "and I have nothing to confess."

DETECTIVE MUST FACE TRIAL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 22.—Labor leaders here today are jubilant over the decision of Governor Johnson to sign the requisition for the return to Indianapolis of Detective James Hosick for trial on charge of having kidnaped John J. McNamara.

Attorneys for the Los Angeles Times, who are defending Hosick, have prepared to seek a writ of habeas corpus or to take other legal steps as soon as a warrant for Hosick is issued.

They say even if McNamara was kidnaped, Hosick could not be held responsible as he merely served a requisition signed by Gov. Johnson himself.

EXPLOSION WRECKS BANK

STREATOR, Ill., Aug. 22.—The building occupied by the National bank of Streator was wrecked early today by an explosion in the reserve vault. Windows within several blocks radius were broken. The authorities believe the explosion was caused by the blowing out of a gas heater in the vault.

CLARK TO BE BOOMED

DAVENPORT, Iowa, Aug. 22.—Speaker Champ Clark has accepted an invitation from the Tri-City Labor unions to speak at Suburban Island near here the afternoon of labor day, September 4, and the event is supposed to launch the boom of Clark for president in Iowa and Illinois as the friend of the labor unions.

SKELETON MAY BE THAT OF MONTANAN

Chief Webber This Morning Receives Telegram That May Solve Mysterious Death

RETURNING FROM ENGLAND

Son is on His Way From Anaconda in Effort to Identify belongings With Body

What may solve the mystery surrounding the identity of the skeleton found in the marsh east of the Milwaukee tracks recently by William Ludiger, a brakeman, arrived this morning in a telegram from Anaconda, Mont.

The telegram, which was to Police Chief Webber from the police chief of Anaconda, stated that in all probability the body was that of Thomas Thomas, an Anacondan, on his way there from a trip to England. "He was due to arrive in La Crosse on July 2," reads the message.

In the pockets of the unknown's coat was found a timetable of the Cunard steamship line, dated May 6, 1911, and a small memorandum book from an Anaconda bank. This led to communication with the authorities there.

Son Coming Here

While some doubt exists to the possibility of a body reaching such an advanced stage of decay since July 2 it is thought possible that this could happen during the excessive heat here in July and August.

The son of Thomas Thomas is on his way to La Crosse, according to the telegram, and will attempt to identify the belongings in the wicker hamper which was found beside the remains.

A rumor that the body was probably that of a barber who disappeared from Holmen recently, is discredited here.

CLEVELAND IS AFTER WATSON

Robert J. Gilks, scout for the Cleveland American league club, who witnessed the work of Pitcher Watson during the last Superior series, tried to close a deal for his services with Manager Bond yesterday. Bond wired President Elliott who signified his willingness to sell the left handed star if a reasonable price is offered. Negotiations are still pending.

Shortstop Bancroft of the Superior club, the best shortstop in the Minny league and one of the best hitters, has been sold to Cleveland and will report at the beginning of next season.

POSSES RACE FOR MAN

PICAYUNE, Miss., Aug. 22.—Comparative quiet reigns following a desperate race by two posses, one bent on lynching and the other on rescue, Edward Moore, a turpentine operator charged with peonage, who was imprisoned. Moore was rescued after a hundred angry workers arrived at the jail. Moore was guarded and put on a train for New Orleans.

SALARIES RAISED

Postmaster W. B. Tscharnier today announced that he had received official notice that the salaries of Charles R. Benton and John Miller of the local office, have been increased. Benton is superintendent of the money order department, and Miller is superintendent of carriers.

WOMAN IS A BANDIT

CHICAGO POLICE HOLD HER AS DARING "STICK-UP;" SHE SAYS SHE IS FROM MILWAUKEE

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Physicians at the West Chicago Avenue police station worked for an hour today to revive an unidentified woman who is held as one of the most daring "stick-ups" Chicago has ever known. Bullets failed to frighten her but she swooned when an explosion of a photographer's flashlight startled her. The woman, striking of face and figure, was arrested with Gustav O'Leary, whom the police say is the "lone bandit" in all parts of Chicago. She refused to give her name. In her handbag the police found an automatic pistol and a black silk mask. They say she stood, masked and armed outside every saloon O'Leary is said to have robbed, acting as his "lookout."

Beyond admitting that her home is in Milwaukee, the woman will make no statement.

The woman finally gave the name of "Mrs. Nellie Howard," though the police are inclined to believe this is fictitious. She denied she was implicated in the holdups, declaring she was on her way to church at the time she was arrested. She failed to explain why she carried a mask and a pistol.

DEMOCRATS TAKE CREDIT

Clark says they Will Sweep the Country in 1912 on Strength of Record

PRaise FOR PROGRESSIVES

Given Credit For Passage of Few Bills Passed Which Really Benefit the People

Speaker Champ Clark—On our record we will sweep the country in 1912.

Republican Leader James R. Mann—The session strengthened President Taft and weakened the democrats before the country.

Senator Robert S. Owen—The wisdom or unwisdom of Taft's views must now be settled by the people.

Senator Joseph L. Bristow—Taft's veto of statehood was unjustifiable.

Senator F. E. Warren—The session showed the people that Taft is a safe and sane leader.

Representative Victor Murdock—The country now knows congress is responsible to its will. The judiciary now must be made so.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Leaders in three political branches of both houses of congress today answered, in the following special statements for the United Press the query "what do you think of the extra session?"

Speaker Clark declared today that democracy had "made good" in the special session.

"We have made a record that has surprised our friends and dumfounded our enemies," Clark asserted. "The extra session was extraordinary in the amount and quality of the work done in the house by the combined democrats and insurgents, and the combined democrats and insurgents in the senate, and especially in the unanimity of action developed by the house democrats."

"It was predicted freely, vociferously, enthusiastically and confidently by the standpat press and orators that we would go to pieces. But we have sorely disappointed all the expectations."

"Sneered at for years as a party of mere negation and as being utterly lacking in ability for constructive statesmanship, we passed through the house more constructive legislation and better than has passed through any house in the same length of time in twenty years."

"We redeem every promise made in order to carry the elections in 1910. It is a record of which we (Continued on page 6, 4th column)"

Compound Callouses

Ingrown Nails

Sweaty Offensive Feet

Tender Aching Feet

Remarkable Home Treatment All Foot Troubles

"Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water, soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes. (Less time will not bring results.) Massage the sore parts gently while in the water. This should be repeated for a number of nights until the cure is permanent. The effects are almost magical. All soreness goes instantly and the feet feel so good that the whole nervous system is benefited. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Bunions are reduced and the inflammation drawn out. Sweaty, bad smelling feet and swollen, tender feet need but a few applications. Any drugist has Calocide in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to cure the worst feet. Calocide is not a patent medicine. Formerly used only by doctors, but now is obtainable by the public in general, and is saving many an hour of torture for thousands.

ROOSEVELT STOPS NOMINATION BOOM

PITTSBURG, Aug. 22.—In a letter to A. P. Moore, publisher of the Pittsburgh Leader, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt emphatically asks not to be nominated for the presidential nomination in 1912.

The contributing editor says: "I very greatly appreciate your kind and friendly feeling but I am sure you will understand me when I say that I must ask not only you but every friend I have to see to it that no movement whatever is made to bring me forward for the nomination in 1912. I feel that I have a right to ask all my friends, if necessary, actively to work to prevent any such movement. I should esteem it a genuine calamity of such a movement was undertaken.

"Again thanking you what you have said, and more over thanking you in advance for following my wishes in this matter, as I know you will do."

KRUTTSCHNITT SAYS BUSINESS IS BAD

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—"If a retrenchment policy was put into effect today by the Union Pacific railroad, causing the dismissal of 2500 clerks and shopmen, I know nothing of it, and don't believe it," said Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation of the Harriman lines. "The Union Pacific is retrenching all of the time, when there is need of it. Business is bad and when business is bad we naturally do not need so much help. We had expected that with the movement of the crops business would pick up. It did not."

VACATION DAYS NEARING CLOSE

Every Incoming Train is Bringing La Crosse People Back from Annual Outings

Vacation days are swiftly nearing the end, which fact is emphasized in La Crosse for every incoming train brings many back home—back to the old routine. Considerable contrast is noted in the expressions which the vacationists bear as they step from the trains at the station after having spent many happy hours at any one of the great numbers of summer resort, in the mountains seashore or other places. Some are extremely happy to arrive home, while others express sighs regretting that the pleasant times are now only recollections and that the "steady grind" must be taken up once more.

The duties which face some, vary from those that others face. To some the return home means another year's tedious labor in an office, or perhaps he may be a professional man, or out of door worker, but as a matter of fact it makes no difference what or who they may be, the returning to their home city is real. Many students come home in a hurry to gather up belongings, and disappear off to college or university, where the cobwebbed study rooms await them. To them it means the daily grind for nine months.

Ready to Leave.
In La Crosse at the present time, many young people are getting ready to leave for college and they are facing a busy period, for there are hundreds of incidentals which must be attended to. If the student goes to a distant institution many more exigencies arise. There must be numerous preparations, wearing apparel got in order and last of all the parting. Farewell parties for those who go off to school will be many in this city during the coming two weeks.

STARVED BABY IS WELL; BURY MOTHER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—At the same time that the body of her mother was lowered into a grave at the Glenwood cemetery yesterday, little Virginia Petersen, the 4 year old child who for three days starved in a locked room where her mother committed suicide, was pronounced out of danger at the Casualty Hospital. Contrary to the wishes of the dead woman, as expressed in a farewell note, her body was not cremated. Relatives will take care of the child.

FRAUDS WORKED ON DEPARTMENT

State and Counties Said To Have Been Paying Wolf Bounty on Squirrels

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—By sending the scalps to Washington the secretary of state of Wisconsin has discovered that ten so-called wolves were mere squirrels. Secretary Frear was able last week to save the state $102 on a consignment of thirteen scalps, and to nullify a false claim for bounty which it is alleged is one of a long succession of "fakes" with which the state and counties have been afflicted for many years. It is estimated that fully $100,000 has been paid out in bounties through false claims in years past, and through the operation of the bounty law which requires counties to pay an equal amount on an animal with the state, the counties have lost a like sum.

Secretary of State Frear was assisted in this case, as in many others in the last four years, by Chief Clerk L. B. Nagler, who has acquired a rare skill in detecting frauds in bounty claims and whose examination of over 500 scalps during his incumbency of his office has saved $50,000 to the state.

The present case came from Burnett county, in northwest Wisconsin. County Clerk Thomas Tollefson of Grantsburg wrote Secretary Frear recently concerning the scalps of some "wolves" which he sent to Madison for examination. They were brought to Grantsburg for bounty by a Minong, Wis., man. According to the chairman of the town of Blaine the carcasses of two wolves and five cubs were submitted by the Minong man on Aug. 8, and according to the chairman of the town of Swiss the carcasses of one wolf and five cubs were brought in July 16. The county clerk expressed the belief that the scalps on these so-called wolves and on which $10 in bounty on each should be paid, were from this year's crop and that the hunter would not be entitled to the bounty until next November, after which time the law assumes a young wolf (usually born in the winter or spring) shall have become mature.

"There are also at least two of the smaller scalps that look suspicious to me," wrote the county clerk, and he asked for an expert examination of the consignment.

As a result of the evident fraud found in the Burnett county case, Secretary Frear proposed to recommend that the district attorney of that county, A. J. Myrland, prosecute the perpetrator, and there is a possibility that action will be taken against town chairmen who certify to the correctness of bounty claims upon only an examination of the scalp and who disregard the section of the law which requires the entire carcass be examined.

The widespread failure of county officials to examine the whole carcass has led to extensive frauds by out-of-the-state individuals. In the Dakotas a much smaller bounty is paid than in Wisconsin, and some persons, it is known, have reaped large rewards by shipping scalps of protected animals to Wisconsin and recovering bounties for "wolves." As a result of these abuses it is now proposed in official quarters that the next legislature amend the law to require every carcass be sent to Madison for expert examination before bounty is paid.

Mr. Nagler has prepared a pamphlet on the bounty laws which contains also descriptions of wolves and foxes for the benefit of county clerks and others interested.

LABOR LEADER LAUDS WILSON

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 22.—In opening the thirty third annual convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor here yesterday, President Cornelius Ford praised Governor Wilson highly as a "real friend of labor." "Every measure introduced for and by labor at the recent session of the legislature," he said, "received encouragement from the governor."

CASE OF THE BITER BITTEN

Amusing Transaction in Counterfeit Bills and Smuggled Opium Takes Place in Manila.

The city secret service is still zealously investigating the operations of the gang of counterfeiters recently gathered in, and each day brings a new discovery of some activity of the gang and the uncovering of more of their paraphernalia.

Behind the story of the arrest is a tale, told by one of the alleged counterfeiters, which contradicts the old saying about there being honor even among thieves.

The counterfeit money was not a particularly good imitation of the 20 peso bills turned out by the government, and realizing its deficiencies, its makers hit upon the plan of buying opium with it, instead of distributing it around promiscuously.

When asked the other day by the detectives how the scheme was worked, one of the counterfeiters told the detectives.

"Opium, you know," he began, "is generally sold at night. Neither we nor the ones who sell it to us are taking any chances, so when we buy it the transfer of course is completed as quickly as possible. I have bought lots of the drug with phony money and I never yet saw the Chinese count it, and you can be sure I never take time to analyze the dope when I get it. The main idea is to get away with the goods without being caught.

"Just before you got us I went out aboard a steamer and bought a can. I had the money wadded up—200 pesos it was, in phony money. I pushed the wad to the Chinese and he as quickly handed me the can."

Here the man smiled at the recollection. "I suppose he examined the money afterward. I know I examined what was in the can."

Here he paused, and one of the sleuths asked, "What was in the can? Did you get stung, too?"

"Seguro. The can was filled with sirup!"—Manila Times.

Some Fine Old Madeira.

An interesting fact that came to our notice through Livingston Thompson of St. Louis in connection with a case of Madeira wine which, on the occasion of the birth of the young Thompson, was presented by the firm of E. La Montagne's Sons to his father.

It was the understanding that this case was not to be opened until Mr. Thompson should reach his twenty-first year, and until that time it did so remain in his possession. The wine when presented was ten years old, and there are now three bottles, which Mr. Thompson is holding until his daughter reaches twenty-one years of age, when they will be opened. Mr. Thompson tells us that the Madeira when opened had a rich and delightful maturity and can be classed among the finest wines he has ever tasted.—Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular.

NEW TEACHERS FOR LA CROSSE "HIGH"

Five Will Start Here For First Time When Full Term Opens September 5

CHANGES IN CURRICULUM

Physiology Will no Longer be Compulsory for the Freshmen—Many Studies Added

When the fall term opens at the high school on September 5, there will be five new members of the faculty who will take the places of last year's instructors, who resigned to do something else the coming year and the local faculty will undoubtedly be on a high level again this year. All of last year's instructors except five will be back to resume their duties in 1911 and 1912.

J. W. Wilce, the man who was responsible for the winning athletic teams at the high school during the past year, and instructor of history, who resigned last spring, will be succeeded by Fred G. Carter, end on the university of Wisconsin football team, and a hard working athlete who will do his best to turn out some more championship aggregations in athletics. Mr. Carter comes here highly recommended by all his fellow football men and class mates. Together with Mr. Wilce, who will come here for a short time early in September, the new coach, Mr. Carter, will be on the spot early to see that the football men get an early start in their campaign for the state championship.

Mr. Carter claims Richland Center, Wis., as his home, although his parents live in Richmond, Va. He is a graduate of the university of Wisconsin, where he made a fine record as an end who was a hard worker and all his fellow players as well as his classmates speak well of him and praise his ability. The new coach will act as director of all branches of athletics the same as Mr. Wilce did with so much success last year and everyone is certain that he will be successful for he is a student of all athletics and a hard worker who can make the athletes under his direction work to the limit for him, as he has an attractive personality. Besides being athletic director, Mr. Carter will teach classes in history and civics.

Delaware Man Here

Mr. Homer W. Leach of Delaware, Ohio, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan, will take the place left vacant by the resignation of R. C. Puckett, and he will be instructor of physical geography and mathematics, but will direct his attention to a large extent to forensics, as he is to have supervision of the literary societies. Mr. Leach has had a great deal of experience in this kind of work, having made a specialty of it and demonstrated what he could do by coaching two great intercollegiate debating teams. Forensic work is to receive more attention than ever before at the local school and it is expected that with a man like Mr. Leach at the head of this activity this kind of work will enjoy a banner year.

There will be many debates this year for in addition to the regular discussions there is a triangular debating league to be formed with La Crosse, Sparta and Tomah as the members. Each team is to debate with each of the others some time in February, 1912, when, on the same night in that month, each city will be represented by two teams, one of which will have the affirmative and one the negative, while each team will have one debate at home that date and one abroad. To get practice for these debates, there will doubtless be several preliminary debates at the local school between the two literary societies to try out the material. In addition to this there will be the regular debates of former years, so that, together with the debates of the literary societies every week, this will surely be a big year for forensic work with two excellent coaches to see to this activity.

Takes Miss Jonas' Place

Miss Alma J. Wylie of the Michigan State Normal school at Ypsilanti, Mich., is to take the place of Miss Edith Jonas, who resigned as head of the physical culture classes for girls. The new girls' physical director is also a graduate of the Sargent School of Physical Culture of Cambridge, Mass., and she has had a great deal of experience along this line and comes here highly recommended, she having formerly been in charge of the work at Ypsilanti, Mich.

Miss Mae Dunn of Marshfield, a graduate of the university of Wisconsin, is to succeed Miss Murphy, who resigned to attend the university of Chicago the coming year. Miss Dunn will teach English classes and she will also be prominent in forensic work. She is recognized as being an excellent coach of forensic work.

JEWISH HOSPITAL TO AUDIT ACCOUNTS

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 22.—An audit of the account of the National Jewish hospital for consumptives association has been ordered by the directors of the association up to the time of the death of Alfred Muller, former secretary-treasurer of the association. Fred Muller, the founder of the hospital, prominent attorney and philanthropist, died here suddenly August 1.

Two days before his death he was well and able to attend to business. He left an estate of $84,000, $64,000 consisting of life insurance.

The hospital is located here and has property valued at several million dollars. It is the greatest institution of the kind in the country.

JOY RIDE IN PAJAMAS

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Richard East, clad in pajamas was the chauffeur of a joy party that attracted the attention of two motor cycle policemen. It was a merry chase after the merry bunch. East will tell the judge about it.

for she coached the winner of two straight oratorical contests.

Miss Esther Carlstad, instructor of domestic art and domestic economy, who resigned, will be succeeded this year by Miss Florence Moore of Wauwatosa, a graduate of Stout institute. Miss Moore is an excellent teacher of this department of work, she being at the head of the domestic science classes at Viroqua for two years, she making an enviable record while there.

Changes in Courses

There are to be several changes in the course of study at the high school this year, physiology, formerly a compulsory subject for freshmen, being taken out of the required list of studies for first year students and being made elective for upper classes. Instead of this study, physical geography will be a compulsory subject for freshmen.

Half Year Civics

Civics, instead of being a year's subject as formerly, has been cut down to a half year in length and United States history will be substituted for the other semester's subject for students selecting this study of the government.

That there will be a record attendance at high school this year is the belief of Principal B. E. McCormick, who says that there will be about 650 students in attendance in the fall and all the blanks for entering students have not yet been filled out and handed in. Mr. McCormick asks that any freshman who has not yet filled out his blank and stated what course he wishes to take, call at his office as soon as possible telling him what he wishes to take so that he can assign these pupils to rooms, thus avoiding the rush when school opens.

TANGLED ON THE TARIFF

La Follette and Lorimer, Cummins and Heyburn, Bristow and Smoot, Bourne and Bailey, stood shoulder to shoulder in voting against Canadian reciprocity; but the insurgents, we think, came out of that mistaken and losing fight better tariff revisionists than they ever were before.

Some time ago that veteran student of the tariff, Professor Tausig, pointed out that Canadian reciprocity, of itself, is unimportant; no harm and not much good can reasonably be expected from it. But almost all political discussion of the tariff falls into gross exaggeration; and protectionists have so long been declaring that the fate of the nation hangs upon import duties, it is difficult for them to free their minds of that prepossession. The insurgents are protectionists, as they themselves have often said. They believe in lower duties generally and in correcting the manifest abuses of the system; but when it came to the specific case of wiping out duties on farm products they could not get away from the protectionist doctrine that agricultural prosperity really depends upon those duties. Thus, in the form in which tariff revision happened to present itself, although the insurgents had led the way to the brink they refused to take the plunge.

An ancient recipe for teaching a boy to swim is to throw him into the water. The coalition of democrats and administration republicans which carried reciprocity through the senate performed that rude service for the insurgents. Having been thrown in themselves—and having discovered that it really didn't hurt them a bit—the insurgents, we believe, will resume their mission of pushing in the timid little trust boys with doubled vigor.

The Post loses the point of the insurgent protest. If tariff reduction affecting Canadian imports has any value, it must be to reduce the price of the commodities relieved from duty. Either it is worth nothing, or it will have this effect. If, as the Post avers, it is worth nothing, it deserved opposition on the ground that it was not in good faith. If, on the other hand, it will really affect prices, it deserved opposition on the ground that it was a discrimination against the farmers and in favor of the big monopolies. The public expects greater candor on the part of congress and the president in the making of our laws.

HAS BIG POSSIBILITIES

The Madison State Journal thus comments upon the new "state board of public affairs" created by the last legislature:

It is all that its name implies—an overseeing body created to make for government efficiency and boost social service.

Without any flourish the Wisconsin legislature has passed an act that may prove next in importance to the initiative and referendum.

It creates "a state board of public affairs."

"Public affairs" is rather broad, and as used by Wisconsin it means a whole lot. Read the preamble of this law, for there is dynamite in it:

"To create a state board of public affairs with powers of supervision and inspection of public bodies, to carry on certain investigations, and to make estimates and recommendations relative to public expenditures and other public matters."

Here is a commission with power to investigate anybody or anything having anything to do with public service. Furthermore, it can back up its recommendations.

"In this we have a commission with almost unlimited scope and with power to recommend with a club," says one of the framers of the act.

This commission is composed of the governor, the secretary of state, the chairman of the finance committee of the senate and house, and three appointees of the governor.

Note how the chairman of finance committees come in, ex-officio. Therein lies the "club."

The commission practically controls appropriations.

The object of those back of this law is secure a body to draw up and carry out progressive economic program.

Efficiency is the first thing on the program. The commission will seek to improve public service and save public money by co-ordinating and harmonizing the work of the various state commissions and offices.

Next and co-important with efficiency, is social service.

This work is specifically prescribed as the duty of the board in a section that reads:

"It shall be the duty of the board to investigate the materials and resources of the state and to promote their greatest use and highest development, especially through home and farm ownership, co-operation, publicity, immigration and settlement; to investigate the cost and standards of living within the state; the difference between the amounts which producers and dealers within and without the state receive for their products and the amounts which consumers pay therefor; and the measures that may be adopted to reduce this difference, and to provide for more economic distribution of products and commodities.

The Wisconsin progressives rest high hopes in this new commission.

Wouldn't Take Any

The late Lord Young of the Scottish bench was responsible for enlivening many a dull case. One of the best remarks that ever fell from his lips was the reply to a counsel who urged on behalf of a plaintiff of somewhat bibulous appearance:

"My client, my lord, is a most remarkable man, and holds a very responsible position; he is manager of some water works."

After a long look the judge answered:

"Yes, he looks like a man who could be trusted with any amount of water."

One He Knew Of

The late Senator Elkins used to tell a story of Bige Brown.

Bige, he explained, lived in Elkins. Meeting him one day in the main street, the senator said:

"Bige, do you know of anybody that's got a horse for sale?"

Bige, chewing gum, gave the senator a patronizing smile.

"Well, senator," he said, "I guess Bill Hurst has. I sold him one yesterday."—Washington Star.

No Enforced Inebriety

A professor in the Cornell Law school was lecturing on the question of intoxication as a defense to criminal prosecution.

"Professor," asked a freshman, "suppose a man should be seized, carried into a saloon and forced to become intoxicated, and then should go out and commit a crime. Would intoxication be a defense?"

"We won't go into that," replied the professor. "I don't believe a man can get very drunk without a certain amount of contributory negligence."

Knew Her Former Husbands.

During an interesting conversation between several well known Milwaukeeans on the so-called divorce evil, recently, the following story was told:

"A charming young woman was so popular that her discarded husbands numbered three, and the announcement of an intended fourth venture had just been made. Meeting an intimate friend one day, she was accosted with the bantering remark:

"My dear, does it ever occur to you that when the great reunion comes in heaven you are going to have some difficulty?"

"Nothing simpler, you dear thing," was the response. "I knew there is another place besides heaven, and I am perfectly well acquainted with my former husbands."

His Wife is Mortified.

Mr. and Mrs. Simkins were returning last week from a long holiday trip, when "it happened," and now Mrs. Simkins is "that mortified, that she's like as not to secure a divorce if it weren't for those horrid newspapers that try to say funny things about such a serious thing as divorce cases."

To begin with, Simkins is a meek-looking little old man, but the way he glanced out of the corner of his eye at the ladies in the car showed that he had not yet lost all of his gay impulses.

Mrs. Simkins, on the other hand, was a large square-jawed woman who looked as though she would arise at any moment and begin her tirade against mere man, and shout for more votes for women.

Mrs. Simkins was tired, and she sat back in her seat. Mr. Simkins attempted to read the paper, but he soon fell asleep. Tired and dusty, the remaining members of the party attempted to pass the time as pleasantly as possible.

Now, just above Simkins's head, on the hat rack of the car, was a pail. In the pail was a ferocious crab. The crab started exploring and soon fell from the rack upon the shoulders of the sleeping Simkins.

"Yes!" she wheeled upon him. "I from Europe. I am for liberty."

"Come, then," said Kammerer, quietly reaching out and taking away the revolver from her hand. "We're friends. How came you to be in this country, here?"

She smiled at him bitterly. "Because of my zeal. There were people who wanted me out of Washington. Ask Captain Carlisle as to that. But this man I met later on the boat, as you know. He brought me here—as you have heard!"

"It is outrage!" broke in Kammerer. "It is crime!"

"We'll call him to account," interrupted Carlisle. "Why did you stop us? We'd have killed him the next minute. I'll kill him yet."

"I was afraid you would kill him," she said simply.

"Well, why not?"

"I could not see it done."

"You'll see worse done. We'll do it yet. You must not stand in our way." His hand closed over his own revolver butt, and he made a half motion forward.

"No!" she said, and stepped before him.

Carlisle would have put her aside. "What do you mean? They'll be out here in a minute—we'll have to fight if they catch us here. Do you want to see us killed? Quick! Out of the way!" His voice, raucous in anger, rasped at her ears, low as it was pitched.

"No," she still replied. "Let me do the thinking. Keep quiet. I'll get you out. There's been blood enough shed now."

"You are magnificent, Madam!" said Carlisle. "But you are visionary. Get out of our way: I claim him. Leave him to me."

"No, I claim him myself. Leave him to me!"

"In God's name, what next?" exclaimed the young Northerner bitterly. "Are we all mad? Haven't you had trouble enough already with this man? You don't make yourself clear. What do you want of him?"

"I'm entirely clear about it myself. I can't get away from here now, but I'm safe here now. For all of you to stay would mean trouble, certainly. If those men knew you were planning escape there would be more men killed. But you don't belong here. Very well, I'm obliged to stay for a time. So, I'm just going to take the position of commander. I'm just going to parole you two. You're free to go if you like!"

Carlisle turned toward the big German, Kammerer, and broke in to a laugh. "Did you ever see anything like this?" he demanded. But the assent of the other shone in his eyes.

"The lady has right," he said. "What she said is wise, if it can be done."

"But, Madam, what will become of you?" said Carlisle at last. Her answer was instant. She turned back to the door.

"Judge Clayton!" she called out, loud and clear. "Mr. Yates! All of you, come here!"

The inner doors opened, and they ran out at her call. Some of them had been asleep, leaning back in their chairs against the wall. The confusion of their approach now aroused all the house. There appeared also the tall form of Dunwoody himself, leaning on a rifle barrel for a crutch. All these paused in the hall or on the gallery, close to the great door. Dunwoody's frown was unmistakable enough, when he

CHAPTER XIX

The Enemy

Leaning against the pillar of the gallery, Dunwoody watched them all, old friends, late foes, depart. Josephine St. Auban stood not far away. He turned to her, and her gaze fell upon his face, now haggard and gaunt. He had ridden sixty miles since the previous sun, half the distance wounded as he was; had been without sleep for thirty-six hours, without food for almost as long, and now was suffering with an aggravated wound.

"You are ill," she said to him impulsively. "You're badly hurt."

"Aren't you glad to see me suffer?" he asked grimly.

"I am not glad to see any one suffer."

"Well, never mind about me. But now, you, yourself. Didn't I tell you to go to your room and rest?"

She was pale, the corners of her mouth were drawn, her eyes were duller. Neither had she slept. She also suffered, even now. Yet her courage matched his own. She smiled.

"It makes me crawl, all the way through, to see a woman hurt that way. Why did you try to climb out of that window? You weren't walking in your sleep."

"I was trying to get away from you. I thought you were coming. I thought I heard you—at the door."

Housework Drudgery
Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.
This "Prescription" removes the cause of women's weaknesses, heals inflammation and cures those weaknesses so peculiar to women. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep.
Dr. Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know what his "Favorite Prescription" contains, a complete list of ingredients on the bottle-wrapper. Do not let any unscrupulous druggist persuade you that his substitute of unknown composition is "just as good" in order that he may make a bigger profit. Just smile and shake your head!

BODIES OF DROWNED FOUND

MANITOWOC, Wis., Aug. 22.—All doubt that R. M. Vedder and L. M. Robertson, young men of Harvey, Ill., perished in Lake Michigan was removed when the bodies were recovered off Centerville, Wis., a short distance from where their abandoned launch was picked up by the steamer Crouse Thursday night.

It is believed the young men abandoned their craft when the gasoline tank was empty and attempted to swim ashore in the heavy sea. The bodies were sent to Harvey, Ill., today.

WOULD PROBE 1907 PANIC

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Full investigation of the panic of 1907, to determine "whether it was artificially created for private gain, and if so, who profited," was demanded in a resolution introduced in the senate by Owen (Dem., Okla.)

Health and Beauty Advice

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Mrs. C. A.: You are ruining your hair using soap for shampoo purposes. The alkali dries out the scalp and causes dandruff, and dull, lifeless, stringy hair. For your case, I know of nothing better than a plain canthox shampoo. This makes an abundance of rich, penetrating lather that thoroughly cleanses and invigorates. You will find on using this that the hair dries evenly and quickly and takes on a rich gloss and softness. You can get canthox at the drug store, and a teaspoonful dissolved in a cup of hot water is enough for a good shampoo.

Eva: It is distressing to have a shiny, muddy skin, but that can be corrected if you dissolve four ounces of alumina in one-half pint hot water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. When cold apply to the skin and rub lightly until dry. A few times using cleanses the skin of impurities and banishes freckles and tan. You will find this better than powder, as it is invisible when on and does not rub off or spot from perspiration.

Nell: Don't worry about the fuzz on your chin. To rid the skin of the objectionable growth, get an ounce of delatone at the drug store and with water mix some into a paste, then apply to the hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off and wash the skin carefully. While delatone costs a dollar an ounce, it seldom requires a second application to completely remove superfluous hairs.

M.: Expressive eyes never lack in brilliancy, yet to keep them so, it is necessary to give them proper care and attention. Whenever your eyes ache or grow tired, use an eye-tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of crytos in a pint of cold water. A few drops in each eye twice daily quickly relieves the smart or ache and aside from strengthening the eyes, gives to them a remarkable brilliancy and sparkle.

Ada G.: Your dull, streaky hair can be made bright and rich in shade if you make up and

THE COMPLETE NEWS OF THE NORTH SIDE TODAY

MYSTERY SOLVED BY MOTHER'S NOTE

Explanation Sent With Material For Clothes Left on North Side Porch

The mystery of the parentage of the week-old baby boy left early Sunday morning at the home of Mrs. Frank Cagle, 816 Gillette street, was cleared up last night by the receipt of a note enclosed in a bundle of material for infant clothes. Mrs. Cagle refused this morning to make public the name of the child.

The note declared that the mother would call for the boy as soon as she was able, and asked Mrs. Cagle to take charge of the infant until that time, which the mother declared would be only a week or two.

It repeated the circumstances of the affair, and declared that were it not for the hardness of the mother's father, the child would be given a home with its mother. The mother declared that as soon as she was able to take charge of the child, she would call for it; and that she would in the future make her home with a sister in another city.

Mrs. Cagle this morning admitted that she was acquainted with the mother. She was of the opinion that the babe was left with her because of the friendship between herself and the mother, who could think of no other way of disposing of the child until she could take care of it herself. The note declared that the child had been baptized.

Mrs. Cagle refused to divulge the name of the mother, although she stated that she was not a resident of La Crosse.

ROHER SERIOUSLY HURT BY A COVER

As a result of dropping a man-hole cover on his foot a week ago, Joe Rohrer, 611 Mill street, an employe of the Arctic Ice company, was this morning taken to one of the local hospitals, for an operation for blood-poisoning.

Rohrer was putting ice down a man-hole when the cover, which had been propped up near by, slipped down on his left foot. The foot was badly bruised, but no attention was paid to it. This morning blood poisoning had advanced so far that removal to a hospital was imperative.

CALL FOR PHYSICIAN TOO LATE TO SAVE

Summoned by the feeble voice of her aged mother to her bedside at one o'clock last night, Miss Emma Larson, eldest daughter of Mrs. Mary Larson, 1327 George street, was told in faltering tones "to telephone for a doctor, quick!" Rushing to the phone, Miss Larson called the family physician, but by the time she returned to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Larson had died. The cause of death is given as hemorrhage of the lungs.

Mrs. Mary Larson, aged 65 years, was one of the oldest inhabitants of the north side, having been a resident of North La Crosse for over thirty years. She was born in Norway, and emigrated to this country with her parents at an early age.

She is survived by seven children, all of whom were born in this city. They are: Morris, Andrew, Emma, and Ida, La Crosse; and Lewis, Canada, James, Virginia, Minn., and Oscar, St. Paul.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

RABBI IS SLUGGED

TROUBLE OVER PROPOSED JEWISH CO-OPERATION MARKET BELIEVED CAUSE OF ATTACK.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 22.—Rabbi M. Abramson was assaulted and beaten on Sunday by an unknown assailant. The attack occurred near the rabbi's home, the culprit springing from a bunch of weeds that hid him from view until the very instant of striking.

The stranger struck the rabbi in the head with a rock, following up with a rain of blows in the face with his fists. When the minister sought to defend himself the assailant took to his heels, crying: "I'll kill you yet."

Rabbi Abramson staggered home, where he fell unconscious.

Restored to consciousness he reported the attack to the police, giving a description of the man who beat him. While his injuries are painful, they are not serious.

The rabbi said he could give no reason for the assault unless it be that he had been active in an effort to procure the establishment of a Jewish co-operative market in his neighborhood.

Serving in Tennis.

In serving, it is most important to acquire speed and accuracy in placing. Variety in the use of these essentials is also necessary. If your adversary excels in cross-court shots, serve down the middle line as near the corner as possible—if he has a deadly backhand stroke, give him balls on his forehand, and vary your game, but not always striving for a hard ball. It is much more important to serve your second ball reasonably hard than to try for a very severe first ball, which rarely goes in, and then fearfully serve an exceedingly easy second one, which is generally placed out of your reach. If you do not dare serve a hard second ball, at least serve a long one which is fairly difficult to handle, and in this, as in all other departments of the game, learn to cover your strokes as far as possible, so that it is difficult for your opponent to foretell just what your intentions are.—E. Willis Scott, in August St. Nicholas.

OLD SLEUTH'S FREAK METHOD

Mayor Gaynor Compares It to Certain Ideas of Civil Service Recommended by a German.

Mayor Gaynor, at a dinner in Brooklyn, condemned certain ideas of civil service that a German visitor from Berlin had recommended.

"Those ideas may do well in Berlin," he said, "but I don't think they'd do well here. We are opposed to freaks, and this new sort of civil service examination is as freakish as Old Sleuth's."

"Old Sleuth, the detective chief, was once examining a new applicant for the detective bureau. He thrust into the young man's hand a pale mass of ruffles and lace and cambric—a woman's skirt—and:

"Find the pocket in that," he said. "But the applicant shook his head."

"No, chief," he admitted frankly.

"That's beyond me."

"Then Old Sleuth slapped him heartily on the back.

"If you're smart enough, my boy," he cried, "to know it's no use to look for the pocket in a woman's skirt, you're smart enough to be a detective. Here's your star."

Nothing makes a man appreciate the good old winter time like an ice famine.

OLD-FASHIONED GIRLS GOOD

Those Who Find Their Way Into Juvenile Court Are Dressed in Latest Style.

Mrs. Virginia Murray, matron of the Juvenile Detention Home in Columbus, is authority for the statement that the old-fashioned girl doesn't find her way into the juvenile court. She says that girls with the gingham frock and hair tied with ribbons never appear before the juvenile judge, but that nearly all of the girls appearing before him are dressed in the latest style.

A majority of the girls appearing in the juvenile court are devotees of Dame Fashion. "It is no uncommon thing to see a little girl of twelve or fourteen dressed like a woman of mature years, in hobble skirt and décolleté gown," says Mrs. Murray, and she adds, that "we have an awful time in trying to get the girls to discard 'rats' and 'puffs'."

Then this good woman who sees so much of waywardness, who comes into direct contact with so many youthful incorrigibles, gives this splendid advice to mothers:

"I advise mothers to pay more attention to their daughters' wardrobes. Picture hats, high-heeled shoes, open work stockings and very low cut dresses are articles to be tabooed."—Springfield News.

WISCONSIN PEOPLE HURT IN AUTO SPILL

BATAVIA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Orrin Smart of Waukesha, Wis., was fatally hurt in an automobile accident at Byron Center on Sunday. John Suhr, a Madison banker, and his two sisters were less seriously injured. All are at the Batavia hospital. Smart, at the wheel of the car, was driving about forty miles an hour when, at a narrow point in the road, he met a big touring car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Martin of Montreal. The front wheels of the Martin car struck the rear of the Smart machine and rolled it over twice into a ditch, where the Wisconsin party was pinned beneath it.

The Martins escaped injury.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 22.—That she duped other men who sought wives that she might make enough money to go away with her husband Leon Alden, and live happily was given today by "Mrs. Fannie K. Morton," matrimonial agent, for herself and supposed brass art craft worker, as the reason for operations in St. Louis.

"I love my husband so much I was willing to risk all to provide the means to take him away and nurse him back to health," declared the woman who advertised herself far and wide as a "modest woman," who wanted a husband and a "happy marriage."

"I worked in Omaha, Kansas City and Memphis before coming to St. Louis; I saved St. Louis for the last because I wanted to make a big coup here."

Mrs. Morton, or Alden, as she declares she is, was arrested aboard a houseboat near Alton. She was in company with Alden, who said he was an invalid. Her arrest by post-office inspectors was on complaint of Joseph Nemiere, a contractor of Tulsa, Okla., who gave Mrs. Morton $250.

MAJESTIC SHOW IS STILL MAKING HIT

Every act at the Majestic for the first half of this week is giving great satisfaction. Judging from the amount of applause, any of the acts could be featured on any bill, and all are running a close race for the high honors. The Alpha Four, in novel hoop rolling and juggling. Surazal and Razall in a trick and classical piano playing, mingled with witty sayings, Wilhelm, impersonator of famous composers, Williams and Siegal, a most refined and natty dancing act, Leo and Chapman in a novelty bar act introducing a rare bit of comedy with "Wanted a Donkey," and the pictures are all excellent.

This show remains until after the two last shows Wednesday night, when it makes way for high class show featuring the Five Burns Sisters, refined vocalists and instrumentalists, Devine and Williams in a comedy offering, entitled the Traveling Salesman and the Female Drummer, Paris Green in green songs and green jokes, a clever monologist, Buckley and Moore in songs and novelty trick and fancy dancing. An unequalled feature will be the Mexican Zamora Family, the world renowned aerialists, also 2,000 feet of new pictures. There is no advance in prices at the Majestic, usual daily matinee at 3 p. m. and two shows nightly at 7:45 and 9:15. A new show starts with every Sunday and Thursday matinee.

BOAT TIPS LADS INTO THE WATER

Walter Johnson, 704 South Sixth street, and three companions, narrowly escaped death by drowning, when a skiff in which they were sitting, overturned near the head of Pettibone park Sunday afternoon. Assistance was at hand and the four were saved.

TAFT WRITES COTTON VETO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—President Taft again denied himself to callers early today and worked on his veto message on the cotton bill which is expected to be passed by the house today. The president hopes to expedite adjournment by returning the measure with his veto to congress as soon as it reaches him.

NO TRACE OF SHOAF FOUND

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 22.—No clue has yet been found to the whereabouts of G. H. Shoaf, the Appeal to Reason writer who disappeared a week ago while investigating the McNamara case. The Appeal to Reason today telegraphed socialists here to spare no expense in the search for the writer.

JEWES TO STAND SHORTAGE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 22.—Directors of the Denver National Jewish Hospital for consumptives, in session here, today voted to make up the entire shortage of the late Alfred Mueller, secretary of the institution, who died, leaving a default.

Bit of Old Printing Found.

Recently Prof. P. D. Sherman of the English department of Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio, in looking over an edition of Augustinian sermons printed in 1496, discovered on the inside of one of the oak boards what looked like a printed vellum sheet.

By carefully scraping away the paper fly leaf and soaking off the vellum a folio leaf 12 by 16 inches, printed in two fonts, with the paragraph marks, headings and capitals in red, was recovered.

Unable to identify the sheet Prof. Sherman sent it to the British museum. Word has just been received from Alfred W. Pollard, expert in the department of printed books in that institution, that the fragment is folio 40 of the Clementine constitution, done by Peter Schaefer at Mayence in 1467, and dates back to within one decade of the Gutenberg Bible.—Rosary Magazine.

NEW STARS SHINE IN THE U. S. FLAG

Wild Celebration in New Mexico Today Over
Signing of State-
hood Bill

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. 22.—Flags with forty-eight stars are flying today throughout New Mexico and everywhere in the territory there is rejoicing over the signing of the joint statehood resolution by President Taft.

When word was received yesterday afternoon that the president had affixed his signature, the territorial capital immediately began a wild celebration of what will go down in history as "statehood day." Houses and business buildings all over the city were gaily decorated with flags and bunting during the afternoon and last night a "jollification meeting" was held on the historic plaza. Governor Mills, four former governors and the seven judges of the supreme court spoke. The meeting adopted resolution thanking President Taft. All night long the city was lighted with bonfires.

The signing of the statehood bill has started political discussion anew and candidates for the various state and federal offices are expected to begin their campaigns immediately. The new state is expected to be republican by a slight majority.

The republican candidate for the senate are numerous, including Governor Mills, Delegate Andrews, Solomon Luna, former Delegate Capron and Charles Springer, a millionaire stockman. Former Governor Curry is leading candidate for congress while former Governor O'Leary wants the governorship.

CATHOLICS GET DOWN TO WORK

Discuss Socialism And Divorce Problem at Convention in Cleveland, Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 22.—The third day of the tenth annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic societies opened this morning when the delegates marched to St. Mary's church, where solemn requiem mass was celebrated.

The real work of the convention began today with the discussion of the topics of the day, such as socialism and the divorce problem.

Judge M. H. Donahue of the Ohio supreme court will preside at a mass meeting tonight when Bishop McPaul of Trenton, N. J., will make the banner address of the convention on "Federation of Catholic Societies."

Chief Joseph Horncloud, who represents 2,000 Indian Catholics of South Dakota and who is national color bearer of the federation, will speak in his native tongue on "Indian Missions." Other addresses will be made by Rev. Fr. Dr. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame university, and Nicholas Connor, Dubuque, Iowa.

Correct Jewelry

Society's commandment for correct jewelry is not less rigid than the laws of the ancient Medes and Persians. Distinctiveness in appearance is not, as the smart man or woman is aware, the result of extravagant clothes. Rather it is the expression of refined taste in the small appointments of one's toilette. Correct jewelry, correctly chosen and correctly worn, has very much to do with the matter.

We are showing just now ever so many attractive new things, and ask you to come in and see them.

FORCE SUSTAINS PIRATE PROTEST

Winona Leading League as Result of Action: A.
A. Man With the Champs Cause

Winona is still leading the Minny league!

President Frank E. Force of the league, late last night officially notified President Max A. Conrad of the Winona club that the protest entered by Manager Joe Killian, as a result of the Eau Claire team pitching Harrington, formerly of Milwaukee, had been sustained and that the Sunday game, which resulted 18 to 2 in Eau Claire's favor, had been ruled out. The ruling leaves Winona on top of the heap by the narrow margin of one point.

The regulations of the Minny league does not permit the use of a pitcher by any club who has been secured from a higher league within thirty days of the close of the season. Harrington worked for Milwaukee last week and the laws of the league have been plainly violated. President Force had no alternative for he was present last week at Minneapolis when Harrington pitched for Milwaukee.

The decision will bring joy to the hearts of the Winona fans which will likely be reflected in the attendance at the game today, the opening of the series in Winona between Eau Claire and Winona.

may well be proud and on which we will sweep the country in 1912."

Clark paid tribute to the republican progressives.

"Twenty-two," he said, "had the courage and manhood to override the vetoes. Every democrat and every insurgent who stood up to the rack is entitled to his full share of credit."

By Victor Murdock, representative from Kansas, progressive republican: "By far the most important thing that has transpired at this session of congress has been the announcement of Representative Underwood that hereafter caucuses will be open to the public and to the press."

"We have taken two steps in the right direction in the matter of the popular election of United States senators and the passage of a corrupt practices act.

"The condition of congress I would liken to a sensitive film, which only awaits development. Unless I am mistaken, the people are now fairly well satisfied with conditions in congress and feeling so, they should and will turn their attention to the judiciary. Congress is now responsible to the will of the people. The judiciary is not, it should be made so."

By Senator Bristow (By Joseph L. Bristow, United States Senator from Kansas, Republican Progressive.)

"The special session has not accomplished what it should have done, though it has to its credit some substantial legislation.

"The corrupt practices act will have some restraining influence on excessive expenditure of money in congressional and senatorial elections.

"The reciprocity bill, I think, will not produce satisfactory results. I think it will slightly reduce the price of farm products but not the cost of living, because the reduction will all be absorbed by middlemen.

"Efforts of the progressive republicans to reduce excessive duties on manufactured articles failed through a combination between the president, standpat republicans and certain democrats.

"The passage by the senate of the resolution for direct election of senators is the greatest triumph of the session for progressives.

"President Taft's veto of the statehood resolution was an unjustifiable exercise of power."

By Robert L. Owen, United States Senator from Oklahoma, (democrat.)

"The extra session, thanks to the democrats, has removal of the barriers to commerce between the United States and Canada by the reciprocity act.

"Thanks also to the democrats we have provided for admission of Arizona and New Mexico, in which I rejoice to have had part.

"The initiative, referendum and recall has made a national advance through the approval by congress of that part of Arizona's constitution.

"The president himself has been compelled to concede the right and the justice of the initiative, the referendum and the recall, with the sole exception of the judiciary.

"The president's refusal to accept the wool schedule is equivalent to saying that he is not willing to agree to the schedules acceptable to the progressive element of his party. The wisdom or the unwisdom of his views must be settled by the people."

By Representative Mann.
By Representative J. R. Mann, Minority house leader.

The democrats in the house would have been wise if they had confined the special session to consideration of the reciprocity bill only. Instead of that they set out to show how they could bungle legislation.

"They fought against publicity of primary election expenses until we strangled them into yielding.

"They prepared tariff bills with-

"VETS" TO HEAR TAFT

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT IN STRUGGLE OVER POSITION OF COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF TODAY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 22.—When the business session of the annual reunion of the G. A. R. opens tonight, it will be marked by a hard struggle for the position of commander-in-chief. Two candidates, Judge Harvey E. Trimble of Illinois, and John McElroy of Washington, editor of the National Tribune, aspire to that office. Friends of the latter claim a majority of the delegates are pledged, but the delegates are pledged, but the delegates from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska, his home state, are backing the western man.

Tomorrow will be the big day when President Taft is expected to be present and make an address.

Governor Dix and General F. D. Grant reached the city today and were tendered a reception.

The attendance is very large and private houses have been called on to take care of the overflow guests.

out knowledge either of form or substance.

"While entering upon the domain of tariff legislation, they have refused to consider other needed legislation.

"The principal legislation which this session has enacted is the provision in the Canadian reciprocity bill admitting wood pulp and paper free from Canada.

"The special session has developed the broadness of President Taft's statesmanship and also the incompetency of the democrats when it comes to legislation. The net result of the special session has been to strengthen the president and weaken the democrats before the country."

LA CROSSE GIRL WEDS YESTERDAY

Miss Lark Estelle Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Smith of 1325 State street, and Elmer Eugene Gibbs, Decorah, Ia., were married at the home of the bride at ten o'clock yesterday morning. Rev. Henry Faville officiated. Following the wedding breakfast which was held at the home of the bride, they left for an extensive trip through the western states after which they will go to Decorah where they will make their home.

Views of Berger.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 22.—Victor L. Berger, the only socialist ever elected to congress, here today gave his view on the closing extra session of congress. His statement follows:

"Congress in this extra session did only three things that were worth while. It passed the reciprocity treaty with Canada, which means the first great breach in the high tariff wall which the manufacturing class has built up for its sole profit. Second, it passed campaign publicity, which is also a good thing. And it admitted Arizona and New Mexico to statehood—although I am sorry that the recall feature was eliminated by the senate."

"Otherwise this session in future will be memorable only because for the first time socialistic bills were introduced."

"The democratic party was the ruling factor of the session, but through cowardice—because they were afraid to touch on labor conditions at all—they really did not gain anything by their investigations and are not likely to gain anything."

"What the congress of the United States needs and what men sorely missed in this session is a strong socialist group in both houses."

DOWNING ENDS TRIP

SAYS HE FOUND CONDITIONS REGARDING WEIGHTS IN LA CROSSE AS BAD AS IN MADISON

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—F. P. Downing, superintendent of weights and measures for Wisconsin, has returned from La Crosse and St. Paul, where he inspected systems in use there. He found conditions in La Crosse "as bad as in Madison," but a determination by city officials to comply fully with the new state law. This requires a city sealer of weights and measures in every city over 5,000 population. In St. Paul he found the state adjusting the new weights and measures law of Minnesota for its future operation. In that state, state inspectors will act as sealers.

DECIDE BONDING MATTER THURSDAY

There will be a meeting of the ordinance, finance and water committee of the common council tomorrow night to consider the question of bonding the city for $250,000 for installing the new water system in La Crosse. On Friday evening the committee will report at the postponed meeting of the council and that body will take action upon the matter.

The streets and alleys committee will meet on Thursday evening to consider the vacating of lower Badger street by the La Crosse Plow company. At this meeting the company will be heard so that they can set forth their views. All aldermen in the council are invited to be present at this meeting, and the council will act on the question Friday evening.

HERE'S A FORTUNE FOR A TAILOR

Joseph Vrchota, the tailor above the Lyric Theatre, received a postal card this morning wherein it was stated that an estate was to be settled in Wheeling, West Virginia, and that a tailor by the name of Walter Klapproth was wanted to help fix up affairs. Mr. Klapproth can secure detailed information from Charles H. Meyn, 2605 Jacob street, Wheeling.

TEACHERS' "EXAMS" AT HIGH SCHOOL

C. F. Viebahn of Watertown, the chairman of the state board of examiners, will conduct examinations for teachers at the high school today, tomorrow and Thursday. As closely as can be ascertained there will be between 60 and 70 teachers who will take these examinations during the three days as state certificates will be issued to those who are successful in passing. Grade, high school and all teachers will take these tests as a good means as thus afforded to get a certificate.

LOSES FINGER WHILE WORKING ON AUTO

Tobias Svenson, foreman of the National Gauge and Register company, while working on an automobile yesterday morning, had one of his little fingers cut off as the result of getting it caught between two cog wheels. The auto was jacked up at the time and running at low speed or more serious injuries would probably have resulted.

EMPLOYES HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

The employees of the La Crosse Gas and Electric company held their annual picnic at Drexel park yesterday. The employees, over thirty in number, left for the picnic grounds in launches early yesterday morning where they spent the day at different forms of amusement. The chief event of the day was a duel of the national sport between the "Gas Men" and "Electricians."

SAVE THE HAIR

Newbro's Herpicide Will Do It
No woman should have poor, thin, scraggy hair, and no man need become bald. Poor hair and final baldness are due to the dandruff germ.

Newbro's Herpicide will destroy this little germ and stop the hair from falling. Further evidence of this is found in a letter from Mrs. F. Nelson of Tomah, Wis. She says: "I fought the worst kind of dandruff for nine years. I have been using Herpicide now one week, and my scalp is healthy, the dandruff has gone and the itching has stopped. It is the best remedy for scalp diseases I ever saw, and I have seen many."

Don't subject yourself to disappointment and expense by accepting something claimed to be "just as good" as Newbro's Herpicide. The good old brands may possibly be good, but why take chances? The genuine and original dandruff germ destroyer can always be obtained. If your own druggist has nothing but "just as good" articles, go to Hoeschler Bros., who will furnish you with Newbro's Herpicide and guarantee one dollar size bottles. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Send 10c in postage or silver for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

DOMESTIC MARKETS

New York Stocks. NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—At the opening the stock market took its cue from the tendency of prices for American railway shares in London where there were recessions from yesterday's close. After the first important fractional losses, further irregularity developed and declines were recorded. Within fifteen minutes the tone was somewhat firmer. 11 a. m.—After declines at the opening the market witnessed irregular recoveries within an hour Union Pacific rising 2 1-8 and Reading 1 1-8. Other stocks gained proportionately.

Government bonds unchanged; others firm.

Noon.—Throughout the morning Union Pacific and Steel common ran considerably ahead of the rest of market in activity. The highest prices of the morning were established before noon.

Sassafras Oil for Mosquito Bites.

It is not generally known how valuable a preventive against the bites of mosquitoes, fleas, gnats, midges and so forth oil of sassafras is. If in a susceptible person the oil is applied at once to the place that has been bitten it almost invariably prevents the poisoning altogether.

If applied to the inflamed spot a day or two after the bite it at once stops the irritation. To those who live in the country and whose life is made a burden by undue susceptibility to insect bites and to those who have not yet returned from holiday making in regions infested by biting insects oil of sassafras should be a great boon, and it is harmless as an external application.—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

RECORD ATTENDANCE WATCHES BATTLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Having closed up part of the gap separating them from the cubs, making the race tighter and adding to the interest, the giants figured on another record breaking crowd to cheer them on today. As indicative of the local interested spectator, the manager of the New Yorkers announced that 25,000 people paid for admission yesterday, a season record for an "off Monday."

Inasmuch as Pittsburgh also won its game the race between the three leaders has tightened up and today there are only seven points between first and third place.

UNKNOWN PUTS JOHNSON OUT

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Half a dozen promoters today are aiding the police to find the unknown who landed on Charley Johnson's "nut" last night, fracturing his skull. The police want to put the unknown in jail; the fight promoters want to train him for a "white hope" for Charley Johnson is a brother of Jack Johnson, the prize fighter, and has often been Jack's sparring partner, never yet taking the count for his champion brother as he did for the great unknown.

"That trip hammer lick would have won the world's championship any day," groaned Johnson today in

UMPS FORFEITS GAME TO HARMONY CLUB

HARMONY, Minn., Aug. 22.—The best ball game that has been played here for years came off last Sunday when Preston and Harmony met for the first time this season. The result was a victory for Harmony by a narrow margin, the teams seeming equally matched. Neither team could score until the last of the eighth when Harmony with bases full and only one man out scored number one. Preston objected to the ruling of the umpire and refused to continue the game. The umpire

BANCROFT WINS FOR KIDDOS

Northern Shortstop Sends Winning Run Over the Plate in the Ninth Round of Game

SUPERIOR, Aug. 22.—Superior took the lead in yesterday's battle with La Crosse Outcasts but the visitors made three tallies in the second and seemed to have the game stowed safely away until the eighth inning when the Kiddos bunched hits making two runs and tied the score. In the ninth Bancroft, the star shortstop of the Superior club decided the contest by pounding out a clean hit with a man on base. The final score was six to five. Erenton and Dunbar went on the slab and both men did good work. Gilchrist was sent in for Dunbar as a hitter in the latter part of the game. By capturing the last game from the Bondies, the Taylor aggregation made a clean sweep of the series and tightened their hold on the pennant. Score: R H E Superior ... 200010021—6 9 2 La Crosse ... 030020000—5 8 1 Batteries—Dunbar, Gilchrist and Lizette; Erenton and Wais.

The Cubs lost to the giants and the Phillies lost to the Pirates. Just seven points separate the Pirates from the Cubs, with the Giants in between.

Our grandchildren—they may decline to admit they are kin to us—will be talking about the pennant race of 1911 in 1975, it's "so" exciting.

For ten innings the Giants and Cubs flew at each others' throats while McGraw tried flying at the umpires' throats. The players survived but McGraw got the axe.

This Marquard, whom the sport writers panned unmercifully, as an $11,000 "con" beauty, is proving to be worth about 'steen million iron men to the shadow dwellers under Coogan's bluff.

Senator Walter Johnson is pitching so well these days it is almost impossible to say anything unkind about that $7,500 salary. He licked the White Sox, 7 to 4.

But it is NOT impossible to ask if Ping Bodie is honestly a real, regular fence buster. Ping struck out the only three times he faced the Washington speed merchant.

Don't forget the one best bet: Cubs and Athletics for the world's series.

ONE HUNDRED NOTABLE FIGURES IN BASEBALL

No. 81—Jack Glasscock

THE MAN WITH A "DRAUGHT" Some of our once prominent persons in a managerial way had money in the bank; others got Jack Glasscock to work for them. Mr. Glasscock, by reason of his consistent excellence in the field, and the frequent brilliancies which marked his daily exhibitions, was considered the money card to the club owner, the block of bonds in the safety vault, the diamond ring on the pinkie finger, or, as you might say, an asset.

When Glasscock was programmed to disport himself, the turnstiles clicked, the fans flowed in, the seats filled up and the coffers too, and the manager's heart was merry. Theatrically described, old Jack "had a draught." He had, he had. He was a shortstopper by trade, but when you say he was shortstopper, you scarcely graze the top covering of his possibilities. He was a magnet, a sign post, a something to bring out emulation. Besides doing his own work in a way that gained for him the reputation of the most wonderful shortstop that ever covered an almost limitless (in his case) territory, Jack Glasscock had the admirable faculty of developing talent in others, and the result was that when Jack was on a team, it wasn't long before there were other good men on the same team.

Take the 1883 year, for example. Here was our friend upholding the honor and glory of the old Cleveland National league team, and leading everything that ever happened when it came to the shortstop's position. For neighbors, he had Bill Phillips, at first base, Fred Dunlap at second, and Jerry Denny at third. These and Jack were considered the wisest four card draw in all the baseball deck, and became known as the stonewall infield, for reasons which will doubtless suggest themselves to the breathless reader.

When the Union association came along for its brief flutter, there was Jack Glasscock playing with his usual marvel for the Cincinnati club.

The union looked pretty good at that time, and you must know that the fellows who were promoting it stopped at nothing in order to get the best. Well, just to illustrate how they went at it—if the union were projected today, they'd be after Honus for short, and Matty to pitch, and Kling to catch, and "The Peerless" for first, and so on throughout the list of stars. And that's the way the unions worked. Jack did what he could to prop up the Cincy team, and Brody and McCormick of Cleveland strung along with him. In the unions, Glasscock's performances excelled even his earlier endeavors, so far as general, consistent, make-good went. And when the union was a thing of the past you may be sure Jack wasn't put to the task of hunting a job. The St. Louis Nationals grabbed him off before anyone else had a chance, and as Dunlap and Denny also sat in, there was a near-reproduction of an earlier and famous infield. St. Louis was prouder of that infield—which included Alex McKinnon at first base—than it was of the world's fair.

Not to play any club for a too pronounced favorite Jack Glasscock once allied himself with Indianapolis, and let the club in on the glory that came when he led the league as shortstop—and he did the same thing with and for Pittsburgh. He was a great, national character, and every fan in every city felt a sense of almost personal satisfaction so wisely and widely had Jack distributed his notable services.

Tomorrow—Billy Hamilton, and his 150 robberies.

The Handy Andy finished with an elapsed time of 46:18.
